

(Monroe Institute Blog - February 14, 2017)

HOW I'M PREPARING FOR A RICH FUTURE

by Patty Ray Avalon, Residential and Guest Trainer, The Monroe Institute

In my 20 years of attending programs at The Monroe Institute® (TMI), there's one clear thing I've decided...that every course I participate in is an investment not only in my life now, but also in my future. You see, I'd like to live to be about 120 years, and I figure that's doable with all the advances happening in science and consciousness.

So, what are the skills that would be helpful to have as one moves through those next years into an unpredictable, but very exciting future?

Healing

Conscious Manifesting

Reliable Intuition

Abundant Love and Self-acceptance

Psychokinesis (affecting physical matter with the mind and heart energy)

Remote Viewing

Personal Energy Management

There are many courses at TMI that help develop the range of "future helpful skills to have." In fact, all of them. And there's one, in particular, that seems to cover a lot of those, a program called MC SQUARED. Having taught MC<sup>2</sup> for 14 years with Joe Gallenberger, my life always improves in surprising and beautiful ways after presenting it. It's a classic TMI course by now, having withstood the test of time. It still provides some of the richest philosophies and practices for successful manifesting of abundance, health, and happiness.

We all know and explore the plethora of practices out there for clever and satisfying manifesting, but having moment to moment experiential guidance for an entire week offers a bit more than books, videos and CDs can offer. It seems to me that mastering these skills would make life a lot easier for years to come. And so far, they have indeed. If you haven't tried it yet, and are looking for something to take into your beautiful future, please look it over and check-in with your intuition. You may find it's perfect for you right now.